The late 1980s and early '90s were an exciting era for me. I spent six years going to clubs and warehouse parties - the illegal "raves". It was more than just music - it was a way of life. Me in the early 1990s wearing my typical clubbing attire of shorts, t-shirt and shoes in which I could dance all night. Nine hours earlier, I had been at home, excitedly getting ready to go out. It had been a typical Saturday night. I was born in the early 70's, so this is right up my alley. My musical tastes are still heavily influenced by this era. First off, since it was during the time we didn't really (at least as school age kids) think of it as being "80's music". Thi... In fact, I specifically remember falling in love in the early '80s with bands like The Police and Genesis while having absolutely no idea what they looked like. I just heard their songs on the radio. There was no shortage of radio gaga to talk trash about, like WHAM!, or surprise when one of its members had a colossal hit with every song he released from "Faith". In the early 80's you could feel shocked that a dude that looked like a lady had top 10 hits with songs about karma chameleon's, then feel like there was nothing shocking by the end of the decade.
