INTRODUCTION

In fact, we have only one scientific work which up to now thoroughly has treated the subject for this publication, The Order of Corporate Reunion. This is Dr. Lee of Lambeth: A Chapter in Parenthesis in the History of the Oxford Movement, London 1951, written by Rev Henry R T Brandreth. Thanks to many kind and helpful informants - I will especially mention Msgr Professor Dr Diederik Quatannens, Belgium, and Rev Dr Günther Thomann, Germany - and archives, I have been able to develop Brandreth's fundamental work. The last wish he expressed to me was just that I may continue his work on smaller Christian communities. I have made several attempts and this publication is another one. This is a second and totally revised version of the book with the same title I published in 1995. I repeat what I expressed at that time: I am very grateful to three close friends who all have encouraged me to compose a sketch on The Order of Corporate Reunion: Very Rev Canon Dr Paul Fauch (RIP), London, United Kingdom, Mt Rev Professor Dr Paul G W Schultz (RIP), Glendale, CA, USA, and Mt Rev Professor Dr Francis C Spataro, Queens, NY, USA.

The main intension with this work is to account the result of twenty years multidisciplinary research about the ideological background and complex origin of The Order of Corporate Reunion, but also to show how this Anglo-Catholic religious society has inspired to new development works in order to realize the prayer of Jesus "that all may be one" (Joh 17:21).

Finally two remarks of practical kind.

The booklet is composed as an anthology, as the primary sources today are difficult to obtain. Person mentioned only with family name has a biographical entry in Chapter 4.

FOREWARD

Because of recent papal decisions on the validity of Anglican Orders, I believe an updated forward to the second edition has become quite necessary. When the predecessor of the Order of Corporate Reunion, the Association for Promotion of the Unity of Christendom, presented the Holy See with its four proposals for corporate reunion, the Holy Office responded negatively. These four proposals were: (1) the recognition of Anglican Orders; (2) the marriage of priests; (3) the giving of the chalice to the laity; and (4) the liturgy in the vernacular.

Since Vatican Council II, proposals (3) and (4) have definitely been met by the Church of Rome; as to (1) and (2) the present pope, Johannes Paul PP II, has reiterated Leo PP XIII's condemnation of Anglican Orders and very forcefully maintains the need for celibacy of his priests regardless of mounting shortages of clergy and calls to the contrary! However, since the mid 1990's the Church of England has been ordaining women as priests, and this certainly has complicated the entire question.

In two modern histories of the role of deaconesses in the Catholic Church, Aime Martimort's "Deaconesses" (Ignatius, 1986) and Ellen Gvosdev's "Female Diaconate" (Light & Life, Minn.), the decrees of both Nicaea I and Chalcedon concerning "gune diaconos" have been presented to the public as well as clarified as to the role of deaconesses in the early and ancient Catholic Church in the East and the West.

These councils of the undivided Catholic Church permitted the ordination of women deacons (gune diaconos) provided certain definite guidelines were followed. Thus when Johannes Paulus PP II says that he has no authority to ordain women to the priesthood, he is in fact stating that only an Ecumenical Council can decide to ordain women as deacons!

When it comes to the validity of Anglican Orders, this aged and infirm pope, whose pontificate has been the longest in recent history, has contradicted himself. First, he declares valid the orders of both the Polish National Catholic Church and the Old Catholic Churches of the Ütrecht Communion; secondly, he declares invalid the orders of the Church of England and the Anglican Communion. But this is an out and out contradiction and abuse of papal power. Since the Bonn Agreement of 1931, all consecrations of bishops of the Church of England have been performed with at least one co-consecrator from the Polish National Catholic Church or the Old Catholic Churches of the Ütrecht Communion whose orders the pope declared valid and the same as those of his own Church of Rome. This means that over the last 70 years all bishops of the Church of England have received the orders of The Union of Ütrecht and have passed them on to their clergy! If Old Catholic orders are valid so are those of the Church of England because they are the same as those of Ütrecht, which are the same as those of Rome!

The pope's condemnation of Anglican Orders and the marriage of priests are his personal whimsey and not Catholic Teaching just as Leo PP XIII's decision was based on the false belief that the matter for ordination of priests was the handing of the chalice and not the laying on of hands. Another pope in the near future can opt for the validity of Anglican Orders as well as for the marriage of priests. He might also revive the Ancient Order of Deaconesses. And a future Ecumenical Council of the Catholic Church, Western & Eastern, may pronounce in favour of ordaining women as priests following the guidelines set down by Nicaea I (Canon 19) and Chalcedon (Canon 15) for the ordination of deaconesses as well as Canon 48 of the Trullan Synod in 691. Canon 41 of the Arabic translation of the Nicene Canons specifically describes the Order of Deaconesses.

Thus the validity of Anglican Orders has become intrinsically linked with both the revival of the Order of Deaconesses, the marriage of priests and the ordination of women as priests in the Catholic Church. All may be decided by either a future pope or a future Ecumenical Council of the entire Holy Church of all Christians in the Unity of Christendom. "THAT ALL MAY BE ONE."

CHAPTER 1: HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

The idea on religious societies

In order to have a broad perspective on the context in which we find The Order of Corporate Reunion it may be motived to start with a historical outline of the idea on religious societies.

This idea has its roots in the monastic orders and the societies of the original Societas Rosicruciana.¹ In The Country Parson's Advice to His Parishioners, 1680, we find the following definition: "If good men of the Church will unite together in the several parts of the kingdom, disposing themselves into friendly societies, and engaging each other, in their respective combinations, to be helpful to each other in all good Christian ways, it will be the most effectual means for restoring our decaying Christianity to its primitive life and vigour, and the supporting of our tottering and sinking church."

This idea on religious societies has been the impuls to many activities. In England we have the birth of Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge (founded 1698)² and Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts (founded 1701) and the book by Dr. Josiah Woodward, Account of the Rise and Progress of the Religious Societies in the City of London, London 1712. This publication was very soon translated into German and professor August Hermann Francke (1663-1727) at University of Halle took its message to his heart. In the spiritual revival which arose from Halle, the pietism, the idea on religious societies became an important ingredience. In Sweden the idea became a source of inspiration for the Lutheran state church to inhebit religious societies without the attendance of a clergyman. A law was created, Konventikelplakatet, whose authority stamped the development of the religious life 1726-1858. The renewer of Unitas Fratrum (The Moravian Church), Count Nikolaus Ludwig von Zinzendorf (1700-1760), also took to his heart the importance of religious societies and initiated societies wherever in Europe and America he and his co-operators established missions.

In a letter published in London Magazine 1760, John Wesley (1703-1791) sheds the light on the origin of The Methodist Church, whose spiritual father he was. He refers to his reading of The Country Parson's Advice to His Parishioners and says: "... united together in the several parts of the kingdom, engaging, in like manner, to be helpful to each other in all good Christian ways". Thanks to his close life together with some bishops of The Moravian Church, including Zinzendorf, his heart became convinced of the importance of religious societies. The way to the establishing of The Methodist Church consists of a series of creation of religious societies.

The Oxford Movement

Around 1800 The Church of England appeared to be nearly spiritually dead. A sermon at St. Mary's University Church, Oxford, Sunday 14 July 1833, preached by Rev. Professor John Keble (1792-1866), became the start of The Oxford Movement with refreshed spirituality, revival of ceremonial in public worship, a restored church and a consecrated life on its scheme. The idea of religious societies became one of the implements and a lot of societies were established. See Appendix 1.

Here reproduces some passages from Keble's sermon. His text was: "As for me, God forbid that I should sin against the Lord in ceasing to pray for you: but I will teach you the good and the right way" (1 Sam. XII. 23):

"What [he asked] should be the tenour of their conduct, who find themselves cast on such times of decay and danger? How may a man best reconcile his allegiance to God and his Church with this duty to his country, which now... is fast becoming hostile to the Church, and cannot therefore long be the friend of God?..."

That combination of sweetness with firmness, of consideration with energy, which constitutes the temper of a perfect public man, was never perhaps so beautifully exemplified. He makes no secret of the bitter grief and dismay with which the resolution of his countrymen filled him. He was prepared to resist it at all hazards, had he not received from God Himself directions to give them their own way; protesting, however, in the most distinct and solemn tone, so as to throw the whole blame of what might ensue on their wilfulness. Having so protested, and found them obstinate, he does not therefore at once forsake their service, he continues discharging all the functions they had left him, with a true and loyal, though most heavy, heart. 'God forbid that I should sin against the Lord in ceasing to pray for you: but I will teach you the good and the right way'.

Should it ever happen (which God avert, but we cannot shut our eyes to the danger) that the Apostolical Church should be forsaken, degraded, nay trampled on and dispoiled by the State and people of England, I cannot conceive a kinder wish for her, on the part of her most affectionate and dutiful children, than that she may, consistently, act in the spirit of this most noble sentence...

I do not see how any person can devote himself too entirely to the cause of the Apostolical Church in these realms. There may be, as far as he know, but a very few to sympathize with him. He may have to wait long, and very likely pass out of this world before he see any abatement in the triumph of disorder and irreligion. But, if he is consistent, he possesses, to the utmost, the personal consolations of a good Christian: and as a true Churchman, he has that encouragement, which no other cause in the world can impart in the same degree: he is calmly, soberly, demonstrably, sure, that, sooner or later, his will be the winning side..."

The "Assyrian-fever"

Contemporary with that The Oxford Movement arose, new discoveries reached England on the milieu of names and events well-known from The Old Testament and on the Christians in the former Assyria. An "Assyrian-fever" arose which inspired to many different churchly interactions. 1864 The Eastern Churches Association was founded by the famous hymnist and liturgiologist John Mason Neale (1818-1866) and 1866 The Archbishop of Canterbury,

Edward White Benson (1829-1896), initiated The Archbishop of Canterbury's Assyrian Mission.³

The Old Catholic movements

During the 18th and 19th centuries a lot of critical voices arose within The Catholic Church in the western hemisphere. 1889 these Old Catholic movements in Western Europe generated into The Union of Utrecht of The Old Catholic Churches. The common sense for these movements consisted of a revival of the theology of The Council of Khalkedon 451 and the undivided church, and of a repudiation of opera supererogationis, celibacy for priests and bishops and that the pope according to the decree of 1870 is infallible when he speaks ex cathedra. And as a result of the victory of democracy through The French Revolution 1789 several national churches would like to be independent of papal control.⁴

Summary

The context in which we may understand The Order of Corporate Reunion consists of a combination of many different dogmatic and practical positions in which The Oxford Movement and its religious societies appear as a melting-pot. A considerably simplified attempt to summarize may be the following key map. It is worth emphasizing that the goal of the activities is related to The Church of England while that of The Old Catholic movements is related to The Catholic Church. A review of The Anglo-Catholic Movement at the time of the growth of The Order of Corporate Reunion may have the following appearance:

The Anglo-Catholic Movement
The High Church Movement or Tractarians⁵	The restoration societies
Revival within The Church of England	Ambition of making The Church of England to a uniate church of The Western Patriarchate
Emphasise on the authority of the apostolic succession	Emphasise on all doctrines of The Catholic Church
Emphasise on the authority of the sacraments	Emphasise on the restoration of the apostolic succession
Emphasise on the importance of liturgies and vestments

⁴ This process of change is summarized in Persson, Bertil, A Biographical Sketch on Joseph René Vilatte, Solna 2000 pp 38-39.

Pastoral Letter by the Rector, Provincials, and Provosts of the Order of Corporate Reunion

Pro Deo, pro ecclesia, pro patria

In the Sacred Name of the Most Holy, Undivided and Adorable Trinity, Father Son and Holy Ghost. Amen

†Thomas, by the Favour of GOD, Rector of the ORDER OF CORPORATE REUNION, and PRO-PROVINCIAL OF CANTERBURY; †Joseph, by the Favour of GOD, PROVINCIAL OF YORK, in the Kingdom of England; and †Laurence, by the Favour of GOD, PROVINCIAL OF CAERLEON, in the Principality of Wales, with the Provosts and Members of the Synod of the Order, to the Faithful in CHRIST JESUS, whom these Presents may concern; Health and Benediction in the LORD GOD Everlasting.

EVERY faithful Christian must surely be distressed and bewildered at the spectacle afforded by the evil state into which the National Church of England has been brought by departure from ancient principles and by recent events. A long course of change, usurpation, and revolution has moved all her old land-marks. The evil is continually working; no man being able to foresee whereunto it will grow, or what will be the end thereof. Two things are certain, however: on the one hand, that all semblance of independent existence and corporate action has departed from the Established Church, so that she is given up, as it were, bound hand and foot, and blindfolded into the toils of her enemies; while, on the other hand, these enemies are waiting to rob her of her privileges and possessions, and are even now debating how to divide the spoil.

We affirm, that in the Providence of God, the evil itself has opened the door to a remedy. For the Bishops of the Church of England, having yielded up all canonical authority and jurisdiction in the spiritual order, can neither interfere with, nor restrain, Us in Our work of recovering from elsewhere that which has been forfeited or lost - securing three distinct and independent lines of a new Episcopal Succession, so as to labour corporately, and on no sandy foundation, for the healing of the breach which has been made.

In thus associating ourselves together, we solemnly take as the basis of this Our Order the Catholic Faith as defined by the Seven General Councils, acknowledged as such by the whole Church of the East and the West before the great and deplorable schism, and as commonly received in the Apostles' Creed, and the Creed of Nicaea, and the Creed of St. Athanasius. To all the sublime doctrines so laid down, We declare our unreserved adherence, as well as to the principles of Church constitution and discipline, set forth and approved by the said Seven General Councils. Furthermore, until the whole Church shall speak on the subject, We accept all those dogmatic statements set forth in common by the Council of Trent and the Synod of Bethlehem respectively, with regard to the doctrine of the Sacraments...

Thanking Almighty God most humbly for the restoration of Brotherhoods, Sisterhoods, and Guilds, We solemnly affirm that the Monastic Life, duly regulated according to the laws of the Catholic Church, is a most salutary institution, in perfect harmony with the spirit of the Gospel; and is full of profit to those who, being carefully tried and examined, make full proof of their calling thereto. Our services will always be at the disposal of such - upon whom We invoke the Divine blessing.

As regards the chief aim of this new Order - Corporate Reunion - it is needful to remark finally, that, while We have to deplore the divisions existing amongst the churches, We cannot unchurch any having a true succession. Therefore, We pray for all, We remove all stumblingblocks in the way of union amongst the baptized, whom We hail and regard as brethren, while, on disputed points of Church opinion not yet defined by lawful Authority. We appeal to a free General Council, with earnest prayers to God for its speedy assembly and guidance by the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Pastoral Letter was published in Reunion Magazine 1877 and in The Tablet 23 January 1909. The text above is an excerpt.

At least in 1875 a rough draft to the proclamation on The Order of Corporate Reunion was compiled. De Lisle and Lee et al. had worked a long time for preparing it. In the beginning of 1876 it was disclosed in a pamphlet distributed by 'Presbyter Anglicanus'.⁹ It had the form of an open letter addressed to Henry Edward Cardinal Manning (1808-1892), Archbishop of Westminster. De Lisle distributed copies among his friends, and 12 January 1876 he wrote to Manning (letter published in Purcell, op.cit., Vol II, p 23):

"I hear from various quarters - all more or less good and reliable sources - the actual number of whom Presbyter Anglicanus as the deputed mouthpiece variously estimated as from 500 to 1,000 of the clergy and from 50,000 to 100,000 of the laity. Be this as it may, if the snowball is favoured by the Holy See, it will gather round it even millions - all who care for Christianity in our very dear old England! - and of one thing I am perfectly certain, that WE with our countless encumbrances and our frightful burden of abuses from one end of the Earth to the other, shall never win England or any other nation again, but shall continue to lose every day more and more of the few that remain to us. But behold the Lord send us an offer of new Life, which may be the germ of moral regeneration for the whole earth under the fostering care of the Holy See."

Morning Post 5 July 1877:

"The first synod of the new organization - regarding which such varied rumours and reports have been current for some months past - was held in London on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 3rd and 4th of this month. The proceedings, which, so we are informed, were conducted with all the order and gravity common to solemn synods, was opened by Mass of the Holy Ghost, according to Sarum Rite, followed by prayers and intercessions given in Gavantus. The work undertaken by the promoters was carried on and completed in perfect unanimity.

⁹ Presbyter Anglicanus: According to Anson, Peter F, Bishops at Large, London 1964 p 64, the penname of Rev. Edmund Huff, 1853-1891 rector of Little Cawthorpe, Lincolnshire. According to Pawley, Bernard & Margret, Rome and Canterbury through four Centuries, London & Oxford 1974 p 198, the penname of Rev. Edmund S. Grindle, vicar of St. Paul's, Brighton.

We understand that a formal pastoral of the rector and provincials will be issued early in September.”¹⁰

At this first synod, which was held in secrecy, Pastoral Letter with addition of the prefatory episcopal greetings was approved. Seccombe has in a letter written to Lee said (published in Brandreth, op.cit., p 120):

”I have been working hard at the scheme, not without result, as I will show you when we meet. There is nothing like having a definite course chalked out, for when the time of action comes it often happens that mistakes are made by want of consideration. But whatever is done, I hope the Establishment may remain for many years - even though we may not share the advantages of it.”

After the founding Bishops have informed De Lisle about the first synod, De Lisle answered in a letter published in Reunion Magazine 1877 p 355:

”I hail the meeting of the first Synod of the new Ecclesiastical organization as one of the most important steps that has been taken since the era of the Reformation. I shall commend it to the prayers of our chaplain in the celebration of the most Holy Mysteries in our chapel tomorrow, and most heartily do I pray that God will pour out His Blessing upon the Synod, and guide it by His Holy and Life-long Spirit, so that it may become a great instrument towards promoting the Reunion of Christendom, and thus paving the way for the full development of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ over the whole world. The hearts of all good men seem now more and more turned towards Rome, and the healing of our deplorable divisions; but we have all sinned and we must all humble ourselves before God, and implore His mercy and assistance. The Holy Sacrifice will also be celebrated for this intention tomorrow in the Church of St Bernard’s Abbey.”

According to Reunion Magazine 1877 p 11:

Saturday 8 September 1877, at dawn, Pastoral Letter was read on the steps at the west end of St. Paul’s Cathedral in London in the presence of witnesses whose names have not been made public.

The Tablet 16 September 1877:

”We have been looking out since the spring for a phenomenon about which divers dark and mysterious hints have been privately dropped from time to time. It has at length burst upon an astonished world. This phenomenon is nothing less than a kind of Ritualistic crypto-hierarchy.

On Saturday last, being ‘the Feast of the Nativity of Our Lady St Mary, the Blessed Mother of God, in the year of Our Lord, and of the World’s Redemption, One Thousand, Eight Hundred and Seventy-seven, was drawn up, approved, ratified, and solemnly promulgated in the divinely protected City of London’ - a phrase which gives a quite deliciously Oriental flavour

¹⁰ A similar article was published in The Tablet 7 July 1877. - The founders wished to maintain The Sarum Breviary and Missal. In Reunion Magazine 1877 p 99 it is stated that ”in all chapels and oratories of this Order... the Ancient Liturgy of the Church of England according to the use of Sarum be used in the celebration of the Sacred Mysteries of the Altar”. This liturgy, originally composed of several local liturgies, was of the Cathedral and Diocese of Salisbury (Sarum) in Wiltshire and has usually been ascribed to St. Osmund, the second bishop of the See (1077-1099). However, there is no evidence for this ascription. It was given the definite form during the 13th century by Richard Poore (Poor, Poure or Le Poor, dead 1237), bishop of Salisbury, Chichester and Durham. Ref. Directorium Anglicanum, London 1858, 1865 and 1878. The 1st edition was edited by Rev. John Purchas and the others were edited as revised editions by Lee. Yates, Nigel, Anglican Ritualism in Victorian Britain 1830-1910, Oxford 1999 pp 121-123, gives an outline of the revisions of this liturgical work. - Gavantus refers to Thesaurus sacrorum rituum, Seu Commentaria in rubricas Missalis et Breviarii Romani, Roma 1628, composed by Bartholommeo Gavanti (1569-1638).

to the proceedings - a kind of Bull, Brief, or Encyclical to all 'the Faithful whom these Presents concern'. It may be naturally asked by whom it is issued. We regret that here the information becomes somewhat defective. The surnames which appear on the face of the document are 'Irons', as the delineator and engraver of the somewhat ambitious decoration prefixed to it, and the original of which is apparently intended to be worn round the neck of somebody, and that of 'Adrian de Helte', Notary Apostolic, which testifies that on the 15th of August this is a true copy of an instrument which we are informed was drawn up on the 8th of September.

We regret to be unable to inform our readers who these gentlemen are. We do not for a moment suppose that the first name has anything to do with that of a well-known Anglican clergyman. Of the second we know nothing whatsoever... Now for the object of all this solemn fooling - for without wishing to speak harshly, or even unsympathetically, we can call it nothing else. Its authors have opened their eyes to the fact that, as all the authorities of their communion being against them, they are somewhat in the position of rebels. Therefore, by way of mending matters, they have resolved to invent amateur superiors of their own kidney. Nor is it even a pretended Religious Order which the Superiors are to govern. It is rather 'a Church within a Church', to which anybody is admitted who can prove that he is baptized, or will submit to conditional baptism, unless he be 'a presbyter' who has been twice married, a divorced person or a deceased wife's sister, a Freemason, or a member of a similar secret society."

Principal characters

Behind The Order of Corporate Reunion we find five principal characters. The following is a summary of informations, important for the understanding of their role for the origin of The Order of Corporate Reunion.

Ambrose Philipps De Lisle (1809-1879)

1824 De Lisle was received into The Catholic Church. His whole life he worked for a reunion of The Church of England with The Catholic Church. 1835 he began to re-establish The Cistercian Order in England through building The Monastery of St. Bernard, Witwick, Leicestershire, and here he drew up the scheme for a uniate church in England. Quite privately, in the church of St. Bernard's Abbey a uniate church began to take form. He is 1838 co-founder of Society for Prayers for the Conversion of England and 1857 co-founder of Association for the Promotion of the Unity of Christendom.¹¹ He maintained a life-long interest in the Armenian Mekhitarist monastery in Venezia. His daughter, Margret De Lisle, was 10 May 1877 presented to Pius PP IX. She handed over a letter from De Lisle who was asking for blessing over his strategies for reunion of the churches. 13 May 1877 Pius PP IX returned the letter to the chaplain of The Monastery of St. Bernard, Fr. Cesario Tondini di Quarenghi,¹² and with the words "Benedicat et exaudiat vos Deus" he blessed prayers for the reunion of The Church of England, the Eastern churches and The Catholic Church. Margret De Lisle then visited the Armenian monastery in Venezia 27 May 1877.¹³ It is an obvious fact that it is De Lisle who has "opened the doors" to the different consecrators. By his contemporaries he was regarded as the effective organizer of The Order of Corporate Reunion. As Primate of The Evangelical Catholic Communion 1858-1870 he had many clandestine contacts.

¹¹ In Association for the Promotion of the Unity of Christendom he met Rev. E.F.K. Fortescue, 1851-1871 Provost of St. Ninian's Cathedral, Perth. He tried to create a union between The Church of England and The Armenian Catholic Church in his church through introducing "Anglican and Armenian Liturgies". See Fortescue, E F K, The Armenian Church, London 1872, which is "dedicated to the members of The Eastern Church Association and The Society for Promoting the Union of Christendom, as these two societies - the one by its work, the other by its prayers - have for their object the re-union of Christendom, which may it please Almighty God in His own good time of accomplish". Fortescue was also a member of The Society of the Holy Cross.

¹² Fr. Cesario Tondini di Quarenghi belonged to The Barnabites, Clerks Regular of St. Paul (C.R.S.P.), an order founded 1530 in Milano by St. Antonio Maria Zaccaria (1502-1539). The order is most noted for its work with

De Lisle letter 9 July 1877 published in Purcell, op.cit., Vol II p 175:

When De Lisle intermediary Fr. Cesario Tondini got the letter from Pius PP IX, he at once informed Ex Prime Minister William Ewart Gladstone (1809-1898), writing: "The Pope has now committed himself over head and ears to the two points for which I have always agitated through good report and evil report. The first is for the Principle of Corporate Reunion. The second is for the special Prayers for the Reunion of the Graeco-Russian Church with our Latin Church".

Frederick George Lee (1832-1902)

A bit simplified we can state, that The Order of Corporate Reunion is raised on two pillars: De Lisle is the ideologist and the originator of contacts, Lee is the episcopal authority who stands up for the realization.

Thomas Wimberley Mossman (1826-1889)

Mossman in Essays on the Reunion of Christendom, 1867 p 288-289:

"Let us be assured, that the Roman and Greek Churches cannot, if they would, hold out the right hand of fellowship to us, so long as we are uncatholic in our practice... We see then most clearly, as the conclusion of the whole matter, that by adopting and promoting really Catholic Ritual observances, we are, as far as in us lies, promoting in the most effectual way possible the accomplishment of Visible Unity and intercommunion amongst all parts of the Church; and that by neglecting or opposing Catholic Ritual we are doing our best, or our worst, to hinder the glorious consummation of the visible corporate Reunion of the whole Christian family."

Centre for Kentish Studies, op.cit. [résumé]:

Mossman was since 1856 member of The Society of the Holy Cross. When it was known that he was secretly consecrated, the Master demanded to know "what are the names of the three Bishops of the 'Order', where they live, by whom they were consecrated, and what was the diocese of the consecrator... The only See from which we, in this country, can obtain valid orders, and valid jurisdiction is the See of Canterbury, and if the so-called Bishops of the 'O.C.R.' do not derive their succession from this source, they are clearly schismatics". At a later meeting the Master described The Order of Corporate Reunion as "a proselytising Society [which] did much harm in promoting the belief that the Catholic Clergy were doubtful as to the validity of their Orders... He looked on the 'Order' as fraught with the gravest possible evil to the Catholic party in the Church of England; the dark and underhand way in which the work was conducted, of itself condemned it". After further debate the society voted that membership of The Order of Corporate Reunion was "inconsistent with membership of" The Order of the Holy Cross and in due course Mossman's name was removed from the roll of members.

St. Charles Borromeo (1538-1584), Cardinal-Archbishop of Milano, who 1560-1583 was Primate of the secret ecumenical Evangelical Catholic Communion, founded 1518 by Gasparo Cardinal Contarini (1483-1542) from Venezia.

George Nugée (1819-1892)

Wright, op.cit., p 32:

Wright tells that Nugée was "surrounded by a number of helpers, including Mr Richard C Jackson (or the Reverend Brother à Becket, to use his monastic name) and the Reverend E. Salisbury".

As the first secretary of Association for the Promotion of the Unity of Christendom Nugée - together with Mgr. George Talbot, Canon of St. Peters - was received in audience by Pius PP IX. In Weekly Register 19 and 26 November 1864 he commented on "the heartiness of the Holy Father's commendation... I shall not easily forget the zeal he evinced during that in urging the claims of the Association of the Unity of Christendom of the Holy Father".

16 September 1864 letter Ad omnes episcopos Angliae Constantinus Cardinal Patrizi Naro (1798-1876) forbade Catholic membership in A.P.U.C. as Catholic, Orthodox and Anglican bodies were considered being of equal validity.¹⁴ Accordingly, De Lisle left his membership.

De Lisle letter 11 April 1864 to Nicholas Patrick Stephen Cardinal Wiseman (1802-1865), Archbishop of Westminster:

De Lisle introduced Nugée: "... he laid before His Holiness the general plan for the Reconciliation in a conversation of great interest, and the Pope expressed his great delight and gave him his Blessing for the success of the work - on the same occasion he presented to the Pope the Mother Superior of a Convent of Sisters of Charity... and His Holiness gave her his Blessing and expressed his amazement at such an institution having been established in the Church of England".

As Association for the Promotion of the Unity of Christendom also recruited members from the Eastern churches, he came in touch with Ferrette, who in August-September 1866 ordained him priest and consecrated him. Later Nugée consecrated Rev. William Petterson Whitebrook.

John Thomas Seccombe (1835-1895)

In his younger days, Seccombe stayed at The Monastery of St. Bernard, Witwick, Leicestershire, founded 1835 by De Lisle.

Diary of Laura de Lisle 15 November 1866:

"Jules Ferrette, friend of Nugée arrives", i.e. at Witwick, Leicestershire, and stayed with De Lisle 15-17 November 1866. 18-19 November 1866 Ferrette visited Seccombe in Terrington St. Clement, King's Lynn, Norfolk, and ordained him all orders inclusive baptism and consecrated him. In accordance with his agreement with his consecrator, Ferrette August 1866-March 1867 organized the mission on The British Isles of The Syrian Patriarchate of Antioch and All the East through consecrating Nugée, Seccombe and Rev. Richard Williams Morgan.¹⁵ Morgan became his successor when he at the end of March 1867 moved to USA. In the frame of this mission Seccombe translated and 1867 "printed by the authority of the ¹⁴ About Nugée's audience and the later development of A.P.U.C., see Butler, Cuthbert, The Life and Times of Bishop Ullathorne 1806-1889. Vol II, London p 345.

¹⁵ It may be mentioned that these consecrations originally had nothing to do with The Order of Corporate Reunion but we may suppose that Nugée's and Seccombe's friendship with Ferrette has stimulated the preparatory work for The Order of Corporate Reunion. 1856 Ferrette had founded Ordo Fratrum Praedicatorum Unionis in order to bring together Eastern and Western Christianity.

Bishop of Iona” The Great Catechism of the Eastern Orthodox Church and The Holy Canons of the Syrian Oecumenical Synods.

Seccombe was a member of The Odd Fellow Order, and this may strengthen his ecumenical vision.¹⁶

On the basics

The following excerpts may illustrate the basics in Pastoral Letter.

Lee in Morning Post 14 July 1877:

”Absolutely denouncing all lawlessness, with sacramental basis on which no dark shadow of doubt can henceforth ever fall, and with dogmatic principles accepted by both East and West, we bind ourselves together anew under godly obedience and discipline for necessary self-defence, for co-operation, and for promoting the grand and most necessary work of Corporate Reunion, the highest and greatest need of our time... Even the lower animals, when attacked, have the instinct to herd together for self-defence. We shall do no more, but we shall do no less.”

Mossman, Br. Mossman’s Report on the Order of Corporate Reunion. Presented to S.S.C., p 10:

”The O.C.R. admits none but those who accept the whole Catholic Faith; and its work is to gather them together, and form them into one great spiritual Order: and then, when the time appointed comes, as most surely in God’s Providence it will come, whoever lives to see it, we shall go with our thousands of faithful clergy and laity, and we shall say to the Patriarchs of the East and West, ‘We all hold the Catholic Faith in its fulness and integrity, can you refuse to admit us to intercommunion?’ I have the best possible ground for believing that, whatever might be the action of the other Patriarchs, the Patriarch of the West [the Pope] would not look coldly on our plea, and would not only grant it, but would give besides every concession that could in reason be demanded.”

Lee, Order Out of Chaos, p 50 and pp 60-62:

”As I am personally challenged on this point, I hold, and have always held (mere rough contradictions have no effect on me) that the Pope is the Archbishop’s [of Canterbury] direct spiritual superior both in rank and authority... The government of the Catholic Church by Bishops, Primates, Metropolitans, and Patriarchs, with One Visible Head, is so exactly of that practical nature, that no wholly independent and isolated religious body can possibly partake either in its government or in the blessing of being rightly governed, so long as it remains independent... The Visible Head of that One Christian Family, as Christendom has universally allowed, is the Bishop of the See of St. Peter. Unlike all other Bishops, he has no superior either in rank or jurisdiction. Now, when any part of a family, by misunderstanding and perverseness, becomes disobedient to, or out of harmony with, its Visible Head, weakness and confusion, as regards its oneness, are certain to supervene.”

Seccombe in Reunion Magazine 1877 p 242:

¹⁶ The Odd Fellow Order was founded in England in the beginning of 1740’s as a breakaway faction from The Freemasons with accentuation on a fraternal and popular solidarity (“the poor man’s Freemasonry”). Its motto, based on an essentially Judeo-Christian nature, is “Friendship, Charity & Truth”. During 1980’s the present author was a member of an academic society within the scope of The Odd Fellow Order of Sweden. Concerning the origin of the order, he has published a series of articles in Svensk Odd Fellow Tidning, Stockholm 1982.

"It is quite true that we [O.C.R.] do not assume an attitude of independence towards the Holy See. We frankly acknowledge that, in the Providence of God, the Roman Pontiff is the first Bishop in the Church, and, therefore, ITS VISIBLE HEAD ON EARTH. We do not believe that either the Emperor of Russia or the Queen of England is the head of the Church. As the Church must have some executive head, and as there is no other competitor, we believe the Pope to be that head. But he is more to us than this, for he is our Patriarch as well. So that we admit this claim to the veneration and LOYALTY of all baptized men, and in a special degree of all Western Christians, and in these capacities we prayed for him in our Constituent Synod."

Mossman in Church Review 3 November 1881 p 531:

"I used to be as opposed to the doctrine of Papal Infallibility as it was possible for anyone to be. Deeper reflection has, however, convinced me that there is really nothing in it to which exception need be taken. Granting an administrative Head of the whole Catholic Church, granting a Primate of Christendom, by the same right even that the Archbishops of Canterbury profess to be Primates of the English Church - namely, 'by Divine Providence', it is surely only reasonable to believe that, if this Head of the Universal Church were to teach ex-cathedra, or authoritatively, anything pertaining to faith or morals, to the whole flock of God, of which he is the Chief Shepherd upon earth, he would most surely be guided by the Holy Ghost in such a way as not to teach Satan's lie instead of the truth of God. This is the way in which I should feel disposed to understand the Vatican Decree. And so far from seeing anything inconsistent with reason, or history, or Holy Scripture, or the Catholic Faith, in that Decree, thus understood, it appears to me that natural piety itself, and a belief in God's providential guidance of His Church, would lead us to accept it."

Grant, op.cit., p 12:

The clergy who were members of The Order of Corporate Reunion were bound to "obey the State bishops in foro externo, which is all the obedience the State bishops or the law can claim. In foro interno they will preserve their freedom, and as an Order they will not cease to administer the Seven Sacraments as Catholic priests and Catholic bishops have the inalienable right to administer them".

On the consecrations

Fletcher op. cit., p 441:

"Lee was consecrated by a bishop by some catholic prelates, whose names were kept - even from members of the 'Order' - a profound secret, at or near Venice in the summer of 1877; he took the title of 'Bishop of Dorchester'. On his return to England he consecrated two other Anglicans in the little chapel at All Saints' vicarage, Lambeth, as bishops - the Rev. Thomas Wimberley Mossman, rector of East and West Torrington, Lincolnshire, as 'Bishop of Selby', and Dr. J. T. Seccombe, an Anglican layman, as 'Bishop of Caerleon'. In this chapel, too, Lee and his coadjutors re-ordained some few clergy who felt doubtful about their orders, and administered confirmation to laity who felt the like scruples."

This biographical entry, composed by Rev. W.G.D. Fletcher, has been examined by the second son of Lee, Ambrose Lee. In a letter 29 June 1912 to Fr. Thurston he writes (Crehan, op.cit., pp 356-357):

"I was consulted about the Dictionary of National Biography some time ago, and think that a proof of my father's life was submitted to me... In any case, I supplied most of the facts contained therein. I never heard the statement to which you refer as to 'consecration by the Abp. of Milan in his private Chapel', and do not attach the slightest credence to it. Whatever was done was done not at Milan but at Venice, and, I believe, out at sea there. Very few of the initiated of the O.C.R. were told the actual circumstances of the consecration, but all were invited to take the facts on trust. Those who did know were bound to secrecy. My mother, who followed me into the Church in 1881 - being reconciled by your Fr. Galwey - was one who knew everything and disclosed enough to demonstrate that she had been validly confirmed by one of the O.C.R. bishops - Mossman, I think. She never corrected my references to the Venice consecration, and always led me to believe that she concurred in my attribution of this event to that city... The whole idea of the O.C.R., I am positive, was my father's. I recollect the initiation of it and his journey to Italy perfectly well..."

Ambrose Lee in The Tablet 5 December 1908 p 894:

Ambrose Lee states that his father has consecrated Mossman and Seccombe.

Whitebrook, op.cit.:

Whitebrook writes as a reaction on Ambrose Lee's statement in The Tablet 5 December 1908 that the origin of the episcopates of Mossman and Seccombe was not so. His assertion was inconsistent with an explicit statement made by Lee and a document, a copy of which was in his possession.

Mossman in English Churchman 5 March 1885 p 110:

"I believe, that the Bishops of England ought to be elected by the Christian people of England, and that the election ought to be approved and confirmed by the Pope, as the visible head of God's Catholic Church here on earth... All I have ever claimed for myself is to be in what are termed Episcopal Orders, and even that not publicly."

Lutgen, op.cit., p 6:

"... le troisième catholique romain. Ce dernier, au témoignage de J. Elphinstone Robertson, aurait été l'archevêque de Milan. Il existe peu de précisions à ce sujet, mais il est indéniable que le Vatican, qui en possède plus de détails dans ses archives secrètes, n'a jamais contesté la validité de ces consécration épiscopales."¹⁷

Mossman letter in S.S.C. Report of Committee on the Order of Corporate Reunion, pp 9-10:

"I can only speak profitably of what I am able to testify of my own personal knowledge. The most important part of this is that a Consecration has undoubtedly taken place. I have been frequently asked what is meant by 'three distinct and independent lines of Episcopal Succession' in the First Pastoral of the Order of Corporate Reunion. Let me distinguish carefully between what I have been told and what I know. What I have been told is, that three Anglican clergymen have been consecrated Bishops from three distinct sources. That may be true, or it may be the reverse. What I know is, that one Anglican clergyman has been consecrated a Bishop by a Catholic Bishop; and by a Catholic Bishop I mean one who is now at this present time, and who was when he performed the act of consecration, in full communion with either the See of Rome, the Patriarch of Constantinople, or the Archbishop of Canterbury. It will thus be seen that the Bishops of all so-called heretical or schismatical bodies are excluded vi terminorum. More than this I am pledged not to reveal at present. I know it will appear very strange to many that such a thing could have taken place. I am not sure that I should have been able to believe it myself, had not the documents which attest the consecration, signed and sealed by the consecrating Prelate himself, attested by witnesses, and other corroborative evidence, been placed in my hands for examination in the most frank and unreserved manner possible.”

Brandreth, op. cit., p 140:

Mossman to Henry Edward Cardinal Manning (1808-1892) Archbishop of Westminster: "... my character of a Catholic Bishop by which I mean possessing true episcopal orders”.

Trowbridge Chronicle 16 October 1886:

Rev. A. Jerome Matthews asserts that Lee was reputed to be "one of three Anglican clergymen who went in a vessel for a sea voyage in company with three foreign schismatical but real Bishops. That when in mid-ocean, the three clergymen were conditionally baptized, ordained Deacons and Priests, and then consecrated Bishops. That they went to mid-ocean to be in nobody's diocese, and that Dr. Lee does not deny the allegation... He [Lee] is undoubtedly a bishop, which is more than can be said of his neighbour at Lambeth Palace.”

Mathew, op. cit., pp 119-120:

"By 1879 he [Lee], in concert with the Rev. T.W. Mossman of Torrington, and a Mr. Seccombe, conceived the idea of forming an 'Order of Corporate Reunion', for the purpose inter alia of revalidating the halting Orders of the Church of England. These three clergymen were conditionally baptised, confirmed and ordained absolutely, and then consecrated Bishops by the sympathetic Roman Catholic Cardinal Archbishop of Milan, in his private chapel... The story of a Consecration at sea is fabulous.”¹⁸

Crehan op. cit., pp 354-355:

"In summary, Mr. Brandreth thinks that of the three, Seccombe was made bishop in 1866 by Ferrette, and that he may have been the machinator doli for the others. Mossman, he thinks, was consecrated by a suffragan of the Archbishop of Milan, at or near Milan, and in the Ambrosian rite, while Lee was consecrated at or near Venice, possibly by some Armenian prelate in communion with Rome: 'though the name of the Bishop of Murano has been constantly connected with the affair'... Mr. Brandreth thinks that the mystery of the consecration began and ended in Milan: 'It would seem probable that the Archbishop of Milan engineered the whole business, though he was concerned directly with only one of the consecrations. It seems certain that this consecration was that of Mossman. There is no documentary evidence now available for either theory, but a Roman Catholic priest who was in the Diocese of Milan at the time, and later became a Professor at Womersley, implicated his Archbishop in the proceedings.' As evidence for the last statement Mr. Brandreth offers the information that the priest in question gave these facts to the late Canon Ollard in a private letter... He was personally known to the Archbishop of Milan (Calabiana) of the time and received tonsure and Minor Orders from him.”¹⁹

Eye witnesses accounts

Mr. William Grant, "Registrar, O.C.R.", has in Church Times 22 August 1879 p 528 answered a letter to the press:

"In reply to one paragraph in the letter printed in your last issue from 'H.A.B.'... Personally, I have received, at the very least, over fifty letters of inquiry and 'Goodspeed' from eminent

¹⁹ The Ambrosian Rite is a Catholic liturgy used in The Archdiocese of Milano, its surroundings and in Schweiz.

Roman Catholic priests and members of Religious Orders, and well-known Roman Catholic laymen. I was lately shown a letter addressed by his Eminence Cardinal Manning to an Anglican layman, who had requested the Cardinal's opinion of the O.C.R., in which his Eminence, whilst insisting on the fact that individual secession was the rule of his Church in England, utterly refused to condemn the aims and objects of the O.C.R., stating that every organization which tended to a restoration of unity was to be respected."

Lee in Nineteenth Century November 1881 p 755:

"Already there are representatives of the O.C.R. in almost every English diocese."

[A ritualistic clergyman] in Catholic Standard and Ransomer 22 November 1894 p 323:

"We have heard just lately that there are now eight hundred clergymen of the Church of England who have been validly ordained by Dr. Lee and his co-Bishops of the Order of Corporate Reunion. If so, Dr. Lee's dream of providing a body with which the Pope could deal seems likely to be realized."

Ambrose Lee in The Tablet 5 December 1908 p 894:

Ambrose Lee speaks of a number of ordinations of Anglican clergy which took place in the Order's Chapel at Lee's vicarage in Lambeth.

Anson, op. cit., p 80:

Archbishop Frederick Temple (1821-1902), who during his time as Archbishop of Canterbury 1896-1902 lived at Lambeth Palace, has said: "If you want an undoubted bishop, he lives just over my garden wall, Lee, the vicar of All Saints', practically all the strands of apostolic succession meet and unite in him."

Rev. Trailies in Trowbridge Chronicle 29 November 1886:

Rev. Trailies writes that "the Order of Corporate Reunion is under Dr. Lee, who is undoubtedly a Bishop, which is more than can be said by anybody of his neighbour at Lambeth Palace".²⁰

The origin of The Order of Corporate Reunion: An attempt to conclusion

At first commentaries to some subjects which often appear in the hearsays on the origin of The Order of Corporate Reunion.

The Mekhitarists

Within The Armenian Church in Constantinople Fr. Frank Manugh (1676-1749) in 1701 founded The Order of St. Antonius. The order was in 1711 approved by Sancta Sedes (but substituted The Rule of Benedictus for that of St. Antonius). 1712 Fr. Frank was appointed Abbot-General of the order. Owing to the Turkish occupation in 1714, the order was 26 August 1717 given the islands of San Lazzaro, just outside Venezia, where it still is. When the founder in 1691 received the religious habit he took the name Mekhitar (=Comforter). He was ordained priest 1696. One of his main efforts was to unite The Armenian Catholic Church with Sancta Sedes. (The Armenian Catholic Church was created already during the 17th century in Constantinople but entirely and officially in 1740.) He died 27 April 1749. From ²⁰ Rev. W.F. Trailies was a priest of The Catholic Church in England & Wales.

1800 The Abbot-General of Ordo Mechitaristarum Venetiarum ("The Mekhitarists") is a bishop.²¹

"Bishop of Murano"

Since 8 October 1451 The Archbishop of Venezia holds the office of Patriarch, after a fusion of The Bishopric Castello and The Patriarchate Grado, made by Nicholas PP V (pope 1447-1455). The Patriarch of Venezia signs himself as "primat de la Dalmatie et abbé comm. Perpétuel de St-Cyprien de Murano".²² This is the true explanation of why the expression "Bishop of Murano" sometimes exists in the hearsays. Murano is an island in Laguna Veneta (outside Venezia).

"Right Rev. J. B. Gigli, Bishop of Chardica"

Fr. Thurston according to Crehan, op.cit., p 350:

"Fr. Thurston... left some notes on the subject of Lee's consecration from which I take the following: 'The widow of Mr. Seccombe found among some old treasures in 1923 a little phial labelled 'Holy Chrism supplied by Rt. Rev. J.B. Gigli, Bp of Chardica and conveyed to me by the Rt. Rev. F.G. Lee, D.C.L., 15 Nov. 1877. J.T. Seccombe.' This was apparently found in the house of the Rev. C.E. Seccombe, rector of Plympton St. Maurice, Devon."

In The Catholic Church there was at the time of the consecration(s) a Titular Bishop of Cardicensis in Thessalia Prima. In the official books of Sancta Sedes²³ we find the remarkable matter that noone holds this office between 12 May 1848 (when Bishop Alphonsus Maria di Donato died) and 5 May 1885 (when Bishop Augustus Bonetti succeeded), and no J B Gigli is to be found. In The Church of Greece there is a Metropolitanate of Larissa in which the bishopric of Khardhitsa exists but The Apostolic Exarchate for Catholics of Byzantine Rite was created first 1923.

"... three distinct and independent lines of a new Episcopal Succession"

Brandreth, op. cit., p 124:

"Certain facts are beyond dispute: namely, that a consecration did take place in the summer of 1877; that it took place in Italy; that the bishops consecrated were Lee and Mossman; that the consecrating prelates had Orders accepted as valid at Rome; It is probable that the prelates were in communion with Rome. The remainder of the story is open to question. Seccombe was almost certainly a bishop before 1877, though he was probably given conditional re-consecration by Lee and Mossman on their return from Italy. A picturesque addition to the story is that it took place on the high seas, but, that too, is probably not true. The whole business was so shrouded in secrecy that it probably impossible today to arrive with any certainty at the facts of the case..."

The present author's contribution to the debate on The Order of Corporate Reunion:

Based on accessible facts, we are today able to state,

1. that influenced by the spirit of The Oxford Movement and miscellaneous information from the "Assyrian-fever" a team of like-minded persons, consisting of De Lisle, Lee, Mossman, Nugée and Seccombe, began to draw up a scheme for making The Church of England to a uniatic church of The Western Patriarchate. De Lisle played the role of principal originator and later also organizer.

2. that Association for the Promotion of the Unity of Christendom was a religious society for preparing a uniatic church.

3. that the church of St. Bernard's Abbey, Witwick, Leicestershire, was an "experimental theatre" for a uniatic church.

4. that - as Mossman has pointed out - "the 'Order of Corporate Reunion' was simply the A.P.U.C. in action". In this forum, everyone of the principal characters - from his qualifications and personal contacts - contributed to draw up and realize the scheme of The Order of Corporate Reunion.

5. that Seccombe was ordained priest and consecrated 18-19 November 1866 in Terrington St. Clement, King's Lynn, Norfolk, by Ferrette. See Appendix 4.

7. that Mossman was consecrated in June 1877 in Milano by Archbishop Luigi Nazari di Calabiana. See Appendix 2.

8. that the "new Episcopal Succession" acting through The Order of Corporate Reunion is a merger of the apostolic succession from Chiesa Cattolica in Italia and The Syrian Patriarchate of Antioch and All the East. The merger has taken place at the First Synod 3-4 July 1877 in London, when "the work undertaken by the promoters was carried on and completed in perfect unanimity" (Morning Post 5 July 1877).

The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion

The Torch 19 June 1912:

”Since the extinction of the O.C.R. by the death of its three Bishops, the Rt Rev. Fredk. George Lee, of All Saints’, Lambeth, the Rt Rev. Thomas W. Mossman of Torrington, and the Rt Rev. Dr Seccombe, who were all of them consecrated to the Episcopate by the Most Eminent Cardinal Archbishop of Milan in his domestic chapel, no definite step has been taken in the direction of Corporate Reunion with the Holy See. The letter of ‘Sacerdos Hibernicus’ in The Torch Monthly Review of May 15th, created a profound interest, and brought together a body of persons who decided to revive the O.C.R.

Facing the facts that the Roman Church has repeatedly denied the validity of Anglican Orders, and that the Ordinations of the Church of England are not recognized by any church claiming to be Catholic, the promoters of the Revived Order felt that all doubt must be set at rest so far as the Orders of its clerical members were concerned, and they appealed to Archbishop Mathew of the Old Roman Catholic Church, asking if he would accept the position of Honorary Prelate of the Order, and in that capacity give conditional ordination to such members as had received Anglican Ordination. His Grace has replied expressing his willingness... and to conditionally ordain such members as are Clergy of the Established Church and who, having received conditional Baptism and the Sacrament of Confirmation, sign a Profession of the Catholic Faith.

The Archbishop stipulated that it must be made perfectly clear to all concerned, that his services, in connection with this delicate and important matter will be given on the express condition that no fee or reward of any description shall be offered to or will be accepted by him.

The Order has now started on its way and seeks to enrol members. Mere Ritualists are not invited, but earnest minded Catholics who sincerely desire to help forward the work of Corporate Reunion with the Holy See will be cordially welcomed.”

The main person behind The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion is Mathew. At the same time as he has oscillated between Anglicanism and Catholicism he found a home in Old Catholicism. At the same time he was close to The Order of Corporate Reunion. 1910 Mathew published a book titled Are Anglican Orders Valid?. This book plays a special role which by no means has been observed. In this book Mathew expresses very clearly his standpoint. In his criticism of The Church of England he consistently refers to Pastoral Letter as a code of laws and to Reunion Magazine as its commentary. Why this fundamental standpoint so strongly proclaimed from the beginning of 1900's? The answer is that 1 November 1909 he was consecrated by three bishops who have been consecrated by the three founding Bishops of The Order of Corporate Reunion. This inspired him to a new phase of The Order of Corporate Reunion, The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion, which he has expressed in the advertise
19 June 1912 in The Torch.²⁵

From 1908 Mathew was a Bishop of The Old Catholic Church in Great Britain of The Union of Utrecht of the Old Catholic Churches and it is in the authority of his situation after 1909 he was able to sign two decrees on intercommunion. 5 August 1911 he signed Act of Union with The Syrian Orthodox Patriarchate of Antioch and All the East through The Archbishop of Beyrouth, Gerassimos Messarah, and 13/26 September 1912 Act of Union with The Greek Orthodox Patriarchate of Alexandria through Patriarch Photios. 22 February 1916 he created a churchly side of The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion, which appeared under several names, inter alia The Uniate Western Catholic Church.²⁶ In reality this church was a continuation of a party in The Old Catholic Church in Great Britain after a schism among his bishops. Today this church exists only as an 'inner operational circle' of The Order of Corporate Reunion.

²⁵ The Torch was founded by Mathew 1912. Only few issues were published.

²⁶ The Uniate Western Catholic Church also named The Uniate Western Catholic and Apostolic Church, The Western Catholic and Apostolic Church, The Old Roman Catholic and Apostolic Church.

The following clergymen are known as consecrated by Mathew and most of them have been members of The Order of Corporate Reunion:

One of these bishops, Bacon, was 1914-1919 in North America and in the name of The Order of Corporate Reunion performed ordinations and consecrations of several Anglo-Catholic clergymen.

It is the present author's privilege to unveil the following facts.²⁷ Many Episcopalian and Presbyterian clergymen in USA were influenced by The Anglo-Catholic Movement. Carfora, who had got many vital impressions on The Order of Corporate Reunion from his ordaining Bishop Josephus Cigliano (1854-1906) became consecrated.²⁸ Carfora instructed his bishops to ordain and consecrate any clergy who applied to them. They had to maintain separate registers of these conditional ordinations and these were to be kept confidentially. In this respect the object of The Order of Corporate Reunion is today an invisible reality, inaccessible to survey. One thing seems to be quite clear. When Carfora introduced The Order of Corporate Reunion to Crummey, that inspired him to found The Universal Christian Communion/The Universal Episcopal Communion 1930.

²⁷ Among the present author's main sources are Very Rev. Canon Paul Fauch (1913-1995), Archbishop Richard Arthur Marchenna (1902-1982), Archbishop Paul G W Schultz (1931-1995).

²⁸ Mostly this statement is regarded as a tall story. But this is the fact behind: Just after Bishop Louis Prota Giurleo Miraglia Gulotti (1857-1916) from Italy had settled in USA, he travelled to England and 27 December 1908 consecrated Bishop William Patterson Whitebrook. At this time Gulotti was consecrated sub conditione by the said Whitebrook, who in his turn had been consecrated by the founding Bishops of The Order of Corporate Reunion. 14 June 1912 Gulotti consecrated Carfora, who 4 October 1916 was consecrated by Bishop Rudolphe Francois Edouard de Landas Berghes et de Rache.

The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion: An attempt to conclusion

The present author's conclusion:

1. The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion was not a new order but a temporary attempt to renew The Order of Corporate Reunion, an achievement started up by Mathew.
2. Mathew was originally consecrated by Bishops of The Union of Ütrecht of the Old Catholic Churches and then 1909 by Bishops of the "new Episcopal Succession" of The Order of Corporate Reunion, why we through Mathew have an expansion of the number of apostolic successions of The Order of Corporate Reunion. See Appendix 2-5.

3. There are reasons for supposing that most of the bishops consecrated by Carfora are sharing the apostolic successions represented by The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion.
4. The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion had one churchly side, The Uniate Western Catholic Church, and one churchly outgrowth, The Universal Christian Communion/The Universal Episcopal Communion. All organizations are today headed by the Universal Primate of The Order of Corporate Reunion.

The vision of abbé Portal and Lord Halifax

The discussions about The Order of Corporate Reunion gave utterance to different opinions in The Anglo-Catholic Movement. When the ideological leader of the Anglo-Catholicism, Rev. Edward Bouverie Pusey (1800-1882) died, Rev. Charles Lindley Wood, from 1885 Viscount Lord Halifax (1839-1934), became de facto his successor. In winter 1889-1890, by chance, he met in Madeira abbé Portal, teacher at the Seminary at Cahors, France. Abbé Portal suggested that a recognition of the Anglican orders should be the first stage in a process of reunion between The Church of England and The Catholic Church. Thanks to this meeting Lord Halifax caught the full vision of the unity of the church.

Nearly twenty years later, 24 January 1921, before Malines Conversations, abbé Portal wrote to Désiré Joseph Cardinal Mercier (1851-1926), Archbishop of Malines (Mechelen), Belgium: "The question of Holy Orders was chosen as providing a suitable meeting ground for Anglicans and Catholics, where they could discuss, not only the validity of Anglican Orders, but also other problems which separate them. As regards Holy Orders, there was agreement on certain basic principles: the need for uninterrupted transmission: of sufficiency of matter and form, and of an intention to do that which the Church does. I thought there were sufficient points of contacts to enable the question to be discussed profitably. It was not really necessary to come to any final decision on the validity of Anglican Orders; that could have been left to the end, after all the other problems had been discussed."

As a strategy in this debate abbé Portal 1895-1896 published in France La Revue Anglo-Romaine with Catholic and Anglican contributors and also a study of Anglican Orders, Les Ordinations Anglicanes,²⁹ in both cases assisted by abbé Louis Marie Olivier Duchesne (1843-1922).³⁰ Early 1895 Lord Halifax and abbé Portal had two audiences at Leo PP XIII, who in his letter 22 April 1895 Ad Anglos encouraged the possibility of reunion of the two churches. The debates generated in a document, worked out by a committee with representatives from both sides, Dissertatio Apologetica de Hierarchia Anglicana, which was presented to Leo PP XIII. Herbert Cardinal Vaughan (1832-1903), Archbishop of Westminster, and his chief assistant Dom Francis Neil Aidan Gasquet (1846-1929) had hurried to Roma in order to start a campaign against the work of the committee. Vaughan expressed that he did not accept French interference in his jurisdiction. He also stated that Anglo-Catholicism was inspired by Satan. The meeting with Leo PP XIII resulted in the papal encyclica Apostolicae Curae of 13 September 1896 declaring that the Anglican orders are "absolutely null and utterly void". This condemnation of Anglican orders did not, however, damp Lord Halifax's and abbé Portal's struggle for reunion, based on the vision of a uniate church of The Church of England.³¹

²⁹ La Revue Anglo-Romaine was published November 1895-November 1896 with 51 numbers. Les Ordinations Anglicanes, Arras 1894, was published under the pseudonym Fernand Dalbus.

³⁰ A close friend of Mathew. Mathew, who had French as one of his mother tongues, translated into English some of his books. See the biographical entry of Mathew. Duchesne was a radical researcher in church history and revealed many iniquities in The Catholic Church why some of his books were placed on Index Librorum Prohibitorum.

Abbé Portal letter 5 October 1896 to Lord Halifax:

"Our first thought was for you and our friends in England - Puller, Lucey, etc. Poor friends, who have been so good, so generous, so loyal. There is nothing for it but to bow the head and keep silence. I talk to no one. Besides, the blow is so heavy and the grief so overwhelming that I am quite benumbed.

May our Lord have pity on us. May He at least grant us the consolation of seeing with our own eyes that we have not done more harm than good. You and yours have shown too much faith, too much abnegation, for your praiseworthy deeds and your sacrifices of every kind to be lost. They will help immensely in the salvation of your souls, and also (against all hope I hope) towards reunion."

Lord Halifax replied in a letter 21 September 1896 to abbé Portal:

"Your letter fills my eyes with tears; but it does me inexpressible good. Assuredly it was love of souls that moved us: we did not think of anything else. May something be done to put an end to the divisions among those who love our Lord Jesus Christ - those divisions that keep so many souls far away from Him - so that those who love each other, communicating at the same altars, may love each other more..."

We tried to do something which, I believe, God inspired. We have failed, for the moment; but if God wills it, His desire will be accomplished, and if He allows us to be shattered, it may well be because He means to do it Himself. This is no dream. The thing is as certain as ever. There are some bitter things which are worth all the joys of earth, and I prefer, many thousand times, to suffer with you in such a cause, than to triumph with the whole world. Your letter is more precious to me than I can possibly say. Troubles shared are already half assuaged; only I know that if we suffer, you are suffering still more, and it is this thought that hurts me most."

Malines Conversations

The common vision of abbé Portal and Lord Halifax generated in a series of four conversations between Anglican and Catholic delegates in Malines (Mechelen), Belgium, 1921-1925. The prime movers were Cardinal Mercier and Lord Halifax. From The Church of England participated: Lord Halifax; Dr. J. Armitage Robinson, Dean of Wells; Bishop Walter H. Frere of Truro; Bishop emeritus Charles Gore (1911-1919 Bishop of Oxford); Dr. Beresford J. Kidd, Warden of Keble College. From The Catholic Church participated: Cardinal Mercier; Msgr Josef-Ernst van Roey, Vicar-General of Malines; Abbé Portal,

Very important are also: Halifax, Lord, Leo XIII and Anglican Orders, London 1912; Lacey, T A, A Roman Diary and Other Documents relating to the Papal Inquiry into English Ordinations, Green 1910; Lockhart, J G, Charles Lindley, Viscount Halifax, Vol I London 1935, Vol II London 1936. - It may be of some interest that the following Byzantine orthodox churches acknowledged the Anglican orders already in the beginning of the 20th century: 1922 The Ecumenical Patriarchate of Constantinople, 1923 The Greek Orthodox Patriarchate of Jerusalem, 1923 The Orthodox Church of Cyprus, 1930 The Greek Orthodox Patriarchate of Alexandria, 1936 The Romanian Orthodox Church, Patriarchate Bucaresti. Congrégation de la Mission,³² Paris; Msgr Pierre Batiffol, Canon of Notre Dame, Paris; Abbé Hippolyte Hemmer, Curé de la Sainte Trinité, Paris. In the last conversation the Catholics raised the possibility that The Church of England may be a uniate church to The Catholic Church with The Archbishop of Canterbury as Patriarch, but the conversations pretended out with Cardinal Mercier's and abbé Portal's death 1926.³³

Monastère Bénédictin de Amay-sur-Meuse

This monastery, located in Belgium (diocese of Liège), was founded 1925 by Dom Lambert Beauvuin (1873-1960), a monk of Monastère Bénédictin de Mont César (Louvain, Belgium). Since 1927 it is publisher of the quarterly Irénikon. Abbé Portal, who at that time was active in Paris for creating a uniate church, became connected to this monastery. It was established as a center for clandestine work for a uniate church and contact was created with The Chaldean Catholic Church, a uniate church in The Near East. Its Patriarch, Maran Mar Yosif Emmanuel II Thoma (1852-1947), consecrated a lot of bishops, among them abbé Portal.³⁴ As this was done without approval by Sancta Sedes, the Patriarch was reprimanded and the monastery was excommunicated for many years. 1939 the monastery moved to Chevetogne (diocese of Namur, Belgium), its present site.

The growth of The Apostolic Episcopal Church

1921-1923 Rev. Arthur Wolfort Brooks was professor of English Bible Interpretation and Secretary at St. Athanasius Greek Theological Seminary, Astoria, Long Island, New York. Brooks was an Anglo-Catholic clergyman of The Protestant Episcopal Church. The seminary was founded 1921 by Bishop Alexander of Rhodostolon, The Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of North and South America, with Archimandrite Philaretos Iohannidos (later Bishop of Chicago) as Dean.³⁵ Here Brooks ran across his future consecrator, Mar Antoine (Lefebüre), a close friend of abbé Portal and belonging to Ordo Antonianus S. Hormisdæ Chaldaeorum.³⁶

³² Belonged to Congregatio Missionis (C.M.), ("The Lazarists" or "The Vincentians"), founded 1625 by St. Vincent de Paul. Abbé Portal had joined 1874.

³³ The final report was published 19 January 1928, The Conversations at Malines, 1921-1925. Ref. The Malines Conversations, Chapter LXXIX, pp 1254-1302 in Bell, G K A, Randall Davidson, Archbishop of Canterbury, Vol II, London 1935; Bivort de la Saudée, Jacques de, Documents sur le Problème de l'union Anglo-Romaine, 1921-1927: Anglicans et Catholiques, Paris 1949.

³⁴ For discussing the establishment of a uniate church abbé Portal founded and published 1904-1908 a successor of Revue Anglo-Romaine, Revue Catholique des Églises, which became a prototyp for Irénikon. An important article by Ladous, Régis, Dom Lambert Beauvuin et Monsieur Portal, is published in Veilleur avant l'aurore. Colloque Lambert Beauvuin, Chevetogne 1978, pp 97-133. - One of the main areas for the French Lazarist mission was the former Assyria. The first mission started 1838 in Salmas, a district just west of lake Urmiah (a region of today's Azerbajdzjan). It is essentially through the French Lazarists as the connection with The Chaldean Catholic Church was established. Recently the present author has discovered that it is in the frame of the French Lazarists as Maran Mar Yosif Emmanuel II Thoma paid his visits in Europe and performed some clandestine consecrations. He was accompanied by Pierre Aziz Ho (1866-1937), Bishop of Salmas and Patriarchal Vicar (15 August 1910 consecrated in Mousul by Maran Mar Yosif Emmanuel II Thoma), who assisted in at least some consecrations. - Paul Bedjan (1838-1920), trained by the Lazarists in Salmas and later priest of The Chaldean Catholic Church, has played an important role as introducer of Chaldean Church traditions in Europe as publisher of liturgical and other ecclesiastical books. - The present author is very thankful to Very Rev. Dr Salvatore Cajozzo, Stockholm, Sweden, who has supplied with many inside informations about the activities at Monastère Bénédictine de Amay-sur-Meuse/Chevetogne, dating from his time during the 1950's at Chevetogne. About the clandestine consecrations he states: "They are an open secret."

³⁶ This order was founded 1808 in the Couvent of Rabban Hormiz, Iraq, by abbé Gabriel Dambo (murdered 1832). Its constitution were approved by Gregorius PP XVI 26 September 1845. Ref. Regula et constitutiones

Mar Antoine had a common interest with Brooks: To concretize the vision of a uniate church. With support from Titular Bishop of Iconium, Petro di Maria, and Titular Bishop of Tarsus, Alexis Lépicier,³⁷ both of The Catholic Church, and from Bishop William T. Manning of New York of The Protestant Episcopal Church, 4 May 1925 Mar Antoine and abbé Portal consecrated Brooks in New York and 1930 the uniate church, The Apostolic Episcopal Church (The Holy Eastern Catholic and Apostolic Orthodox Church), was officially founded.³⁸ See Appendix 6.

The Apostolic Episcopal Church is the only concret result of the vision of a uniate church, once created by abbé Portal and Lord Halifax, and that has its ideological root in The Order of Corporate Reunion. This church is today a world-wide communion.

CHAPTER 3: SITUATION 2000 AD

As is stated on previous pages The Order of Corporate Reunion has worked as an order in its strictly sense. So also today as a clandestine religious society, which is continuing to sow corns for realizing the words of Jesus "that all may be one".

It may be motivated to repeat that The Order of Corporate Reunion and The Revived Order of Corporate Reunion are not two organizations. It seems so, but this is depending on the special personal presumptions which are connected to the two first stages of the development, 1870's - 1890's and 1910's. Since then, great restoration progress has been made. Now, when we have passed the threshold to the new millennium, the Universal Primate states:

"In the consequence of the current bible-scientific and ecumenical progress the following ideas from Pastoral Letter are the basics for the activities today. Jesus is our spiritual authority. Further, we accentuate the fact that it is impossible to capture God in human categories why the main task for the order is that in an interchurchly, interreligiously and interdisciplinarily way continue to contribute to bring God to life and by this realize the words of Jesus 'that all may be one'".

According to the present Universal Primate, The Order of Corporate Reunion has Pro-Regionals and Regionals in Europe and North America.

APPENDIX 1:

Outline of some religious societies in The British Isles 1830-1910

Society for Prayers for the Conversion of England

Founded 1838 by De Lisle and Rev. George Spencer [Fr. Ignatius] of The Catholic Church of England & Wales.³⁹ The society was created under influence of the spirituality of the Rosminians.⁴⁰

Society of the Holy Cross [Societas Sanctæ Crucis] (SSC)

Founded 1855 by Rev. Charles Fuge Lowder, Rev. Alfred Poole and Rev. Joseph Newton Smith, all of The Church of England, "for priests 'maintain and extend the Catholic faith and discipline and to form a special bond of union between Catholic clergy'"⁴¹ The society grew up from a merger of the spirituality of The Oxford Movement and the idea on restoration of the apostolate of The Catholic Apostolic Church ('The Irvingites').⁴²

Association for Promotion of the Union of Christendom (A.P.U.C.)

Founded 1857 by De Lisle and architect A W Pugin from the Catholic side and from the Anglican side Alexander Penrose Forbes, Bishop of Brechin (1847-1875) of The Scottish Episcopal Church and Lee in order to promote a Catholic uniate church in The British Isles. Nugée was its first secretary.⁴³

Magazine: Union Review, founded 1863, 1863-1869 edited by Lee.

English Church Union

Founded 1859 "at the time of the 'Oxford Movement', to promote catholic faith and order, it continues this work today by providing support and encouragement to those lay people and priests who wish to see catholic faith, order, morals and spirituality maintained and upheld, and who wish to promote catholic unity".⁴⁴ 1868-1919 Lord Halifax was president.

Magazine: Church Review, 1861-1864, from 1864 Monthly Circular.

³⁹ Together with De Lisle, Spencer was among the so called "Cambridge converts" who during the studies at Trinity College, Cambridge, converted to Catholicism.

⁴¹ Quotation: The Church of England Yearbook 2000, p 308. About the foundation, see Ellsworth, L E, Charles Lowder and the Ritualist Movement, London 1982.

⁴² An outstanding work is Gretason, Mark Nicholas, The Idea of the church in The Catholic Apostolic Church, unpublished PhD-thesis, London n.d.. Ref. Also: Norton, Robert, Reasons for believing that the Lord has restored the Church apostles and prophets, London 1852; Norton, Robert, Truths and untruths respecting a restored apostolate, London 1876; Ståhl, Bo R & Persson, Bertil, Kulter Sekter Samfund, Stockholm 1971 pp 23-30. - The idea on restoration of the apostolate was characteristic of the age, a movement in which we also find the pre-pentecostal movements and The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints ("The Mormons"). Cf Lively, Robert L, The Catholic Apostolic Church and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. A Comparative Study of Two Minority Millenarian Groups in Nineteenth-Century England, (diss.), Oxford University 1977

Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament

Founded 1862 with three objects: "1. The honour due to the Person of our Lord Jesus Christ in the Blessed Sacrament of His Body and Blood. 2. Mutual and Special Intercession at the time of, and in union with the Eucharistic Sacrifice. 3. To promote the Observances of the Catholic and Primitive practice of receiving the Holy Communion."

Anglican and Eastern Churches Association

Founded 1864 by the hymnist and liturgiologist John Mason Neale "to promote mutual understanding of, and closer relations between, the Orthodox, Oriental and Anglican Churches".⁴⁵

Society of St. John the Evangelist

Founded 1866 by Rev. Richard Meux Benson, The Church of England, with Rev. Charles Grafton, The Protestant Episcopal Church, as co-founder "to seek that sanctification to which God in His Mercy calls us, and in so doing to seek, as far as God may permit, to be instrumental in bringing others to be partakers of the same sanctification".⁴⁶

Brotherhood of the Holy Redeemer

Founded 1866 by Mossman for poor ordinands. The brotherhood was short-lived.

Order of the Holy Redeemer (OHR)

Founded 1880's. It had an inner circle, supposedly as a revival of The Brotherhood of the Holy Redeemer, Brotherhood of the Holy Cross, which "was started by a few friends who were studying for Holy Orders". These societies acted for a time as inner circles of The Order of Corporate Reunion. Superior General of OHR was consecrated by Lee.⁴⁷

Magazine: Catholic, The Official Publication of the Order of the Holy Redeemer.

Society for the Restoration of Apostolic Unity

Founded 1905 by Bishop Henry Bernard Ventham, Bishop John Cudworth Whitebrook and Bishop William Patterson Whitebrook, all of The Independent Catholic Church of Great Britain of the American Catholic Church Communion, as a regional branch of The Order of Corporate Reunion.⁴⁸

Published a Pastoral Letter 1905.

Society of St. Willibrord

Founded 1908 as The Anglican and Old Catholic Society of St. Willibrord "to promote friendly relations between the Anglican and Old Catholic Churches, including the fullest use of the full Communion established between them in 1931".⁴⁹ 1909-1913 Mathew was Vice President.

⁴⁵ Quotation: The Church of England Yearbook 2000, p 268.

⁴⁶ In Anson, Peter F, The Call of the Cloister, London 1958 pp 75-83 there is an informative historical sketch on the society. Grafton later returned to his native country, USA, and as Bishop of Fond du Lac of The Protestant Episcopal Church played a shady role in the early history of the Old Catholic Church. See Persson, Bertil, A Biographical Sketch on Joseph René Vilatte, Solna 2000. The society still exists "engaged in retreats, missions and educational work". 2. The Order of Corporate Reunion seems to rest its claims to jurisdiction over its members on the ground of voluntary submission and mutual association, depending thus on the mere free-will of the governed. "We have solemnly and formally associated ourselves together . . . promising a true and hearty allegiance to our chosen superiors and to one another." (Pastoral, 2nd ed., p. Reunion Magazine pp. 94 & 95.) Upon this we observe, that such a self-originated association cannot confer ecclesiastical or spiritual jurisdiction, which, as already stated, is an essential part of a Div Jump to: General, Art, Business, Computing, Medicine, Miscellaneous, Religion, Science, Slang, Sports, Tech, Phrases.
