If so, this is referring to Circle Forward, or a process of building a restorative community in our school. This is a format for facilitating conversation that I started using with staff meetings and discussions last winter. The process beautifully gives each person in the room an equitable voice and opportunity to contribute and share. Last spring we invited Gabi Ross from Resolutions Northwest to lead Restorative Justice, or RJ, professional development with staff. She also facilitated a discussion at a spring PTC Meeting. We welcomed her back this fall to kick off the first of what will total two days of RJ training. Unpublished. Circle forward: Building a Restorative school community. Jan 2015. K Pranis.
