Human anatomy has a very old and vast history. Some of the most intelligent people the world has ever seen had been the part of this history. The overall history of human anatomy can be divided into the following periods; Greek period: Greek period in the history of human anatomy started somewhere near 400 BC. The most famous anatomists of this period were Hippocrates and Herophilus. Herophilus is known as father of anatomy and he was one of the first very few people to dissect human body. Herophilus did some great differentiations in the field of anatomy for example he differentiated cerebrum from cerebellum, nerves from tendons, arteries from veins etc. Roman period: The most prominent anatomist of this period was Galen.
