Agricultural Approach. Micronutrient deficiencies are affecting people's health in many ways. More than 2 billion people have been negatively affected by micronutrient deficiencies. For the prevention and control of micronutrient deficiencies in low- and middle-income countries, biofortification must be combined with food fortification in nutrition-sensitive and nutrition-specific efforts.65. Biofortification is an effective technique to enhance the micronutrient status of deficient wheat, maize, and rice varieties. Disease arises in healthy cells that can affect tissues, leading to sick organs and the spread of disease in the body.
