The New Oxford Annotated Bible with the Apocrypha (Revised Standard Version).

[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 191 .A1 1977 N3]

The Revised Standard Version (RSV) is an English-language text appropriate for critical Bible study by both Catholics and Protestants. The New Oxford edition is renowned for its annotations.

The New Oxford Annotated Bible with the Apocrypha (New Revised Standard Version).

[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 191.5 .A1 1991 N49]

The New Revised Standard Version (NRSV) is a more recent translation which uses some gender-inclusive language. The New Oxford edition is renowned for its annotations.

Bible Gateway.

[Available online: <http://www.biblegateway.com>]

Searchable texts of many Bible translations (Authorized King James, New International, and other English versions as well as German, Swedish, Latin, French, Spanish, and Tagalog translations).

Oremus Bible Browser.

[Available online: <http://bible.oremus.org>]

Searchable texts of the Authorized Version (King James) and the New Revised Standard Version.

SYNOPSES

A synopsis compares similar texts by printing them in columns side by side allowing the student to see what passages in one text have parallels in another. For example, one can compare the account of a story in the Gospel of Matthew with the account of the same story in the Gospel of Mark.

Synopsis of the Four Gospels. Greek-English edition. Edited by Kurt Aland. Stuttgart: United Bible Societies, 1982.

[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2560 .A58 1982]

Uses the English text of the Revised Standard Version. A critical apparatus shows variant translations in other major English versions.

Synopsis Quattuor Evangeliorum.

[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2560 .A2 A35 1996]

Uses the Greek text of Novum testamentum graece, 26th edition. Also shows parallels from NT apocryphal works and from the Fathers of the Church.

A Synopsis of the Four Gospels in a New Translation: Arranged According to the Two-Gospel Hypothesis. Edited by John Bernard Orchard. Macon, GA: Mercer University Press, 1982.

[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2560 .S93 1982]

Based upon the Griesbach Two-Gospel Hypothesis that Matthew was the first gospel written, and that Mark is based on Matthew and Luke.

Gospel Parallels. Edited by Burton H. Throckmorton, Jr. Nashville, TN: Thomas Nelson, 1992.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2560 .T48 1992]

Uses the English text of the New Revised Standard Version. Also includes parallels from the Gospel of Thomas and other apocryphal and patristic works.

New Gospel Parallels. Edited by Robert W. Funk. Philadelphia: Fortress, 1985. 2 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2560 .F84 1985]

Uses each gospel in turn as its primary text. Includes parallels from the Gospel of Thomas and other apocryphal works.

Pauline Parallels. Edited by Fred O. Francis and J. Paul Sampley. 2nd edition. Philadelphia: Fortress, 1992.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2643 .F7 1992]

An English translation of each of the Pauline epistles showing parallel passages from the other Pauline epistles.

CONCORDANCES

A biblical concordance is an alphabetical list of all the words in the Bible. It can be used to locate a known biblical passage or to learn how a particular word is used in the Scriptures. Each Bible version or translation has its own concordance. If you are using the RSV translation then you should use a concordance to the RSV; if you are using the NRSV translation then you should use a concordance to the NRSV. Some concordances also show what Hebrew or Greek word is used in the original text.

The Eerdmans Analytical Concordance to the Revised Standard Version Bible. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1988.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 425 .W48 1988]

The NRSV Concordance Unabridged. Edited by John R. Kohlenberger, III. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1991.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 425 .K645 1991]

Veteris Testamenti concordantiae hebraicae atque chaldaicae. Edited by Solomon Mandelkern. Jerusalem: Schocken, 1959. 2 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 421 .M3]

The standard scholarly concordance to the Hebrew and Aramaic text of the OT.

Concordance to the Novum Testamentum Graece. 3rd edition. Berlin: Walter de Gruyter, 1987.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2301 .K65 1987]

A slightly abridged edition of the most important concordance to the Greek NT (the Vollstaendige Konkordanz). With the exception of 29 very common words, it lists all Greek words in their context, supplying variants from the most important modern critical editions.

Synoptic Concordance. Berlin: Walter de Gruyter, 1999. 4 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2555.5 .H64 1999]

A Greek concordance to the first three gospels in synoptic arrangement.

MULTI-VOLUME BIBLE ENCYCLOPEDIAS

Each of these works includes articles about Biblical persons, places, events, concepts, and institutions. The articles are normally longer than those found in Bible dictionaries and usually include bibliographies.

The New Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible. Nashville, TN: Abingdon, 2006-2009. 5 volumes.
[Emmanuel/Knox/Trinity – BS 440 .N445 2006; St. Michael's – on order]

The standard scholarly bible encyclopedia from a moderate to liberal perspective.

The Anchor Bible Dictionary. Edited by David Noel Freedman. New York: Doubleday, 1992. 6 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .A54 1992]

The standard bible encyclopedia until publication of The New Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible.

The International Standard Bible Encyclopedia. Edited by Geoffrey W. Bromiley. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1979-1988. 4 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .I6 1979]

Written from an evangelical perspective.

Oxford Biblical Studies Online.
[Available online for UofT use: <http://www.library.utoronto.ca>]

Includes The Oxford Encyclopedia of the Bible, as well as other dictionaries.

BIBLE DICTIONARIES

Each of these works includes articles about Biblical persons, places, events, concepts, and institutions. The articles are normally brief; they note the most relevant Scriptural passages, but usually do not include any bibliographies.

Eerdmans Dictionary of the Bible. Edited by David Noel Freedman. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 2000.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .E44 2000]

Historical Handbook of Major Biblical Interpreters. Edited by Donald K. McKim. Downers Grove, IL: InterVarsity Press, 1998.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 501 .A1 H57 1998]

THEOLOGICAL WORD DICTIONARIES – HEBREW

A Hebrew and English Lexicon of the Old Testament. Edited by Francis Brown, S.R. Driver, and Charles A. Briggs. Oxford: at the Clarendon Press, 1962.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 442 .B76 1962]

"Brown, Driver, Briggs" provides brief English definitions for Hebrew words and cites the major places in Scripture where a particular word is used. Use another work for more detailed word studies.

Theological Dictionary of the Old Testament. Edited by G. Johannes Botterweck and Helmer Ringgren. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1973 – 2006. 15 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .T4513 1977]

In-depth discussions of the key Hebrew and Aramaic words of the OT. Each article includes an examination of the secular use of a term, followed by a more extensive examination of its theological significance.

New International Dictionary of Old Testament Theology & Exegesis. Edited by Willem A. VanGemeren. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1997. 5 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .N438 1997]

Similar to the Theological Dictionary of the Old Testament (above), but written from a more evangelical perspective.

Theological Lexicon of the Old Testament. Edited by Ernst Jenni and Claus Westermann. Peabody, MA: Hendrickson, 1997. 3 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .T4813 1997]

Articles on 330 Hebrew words.

Theological Wordbook of the Old Testament. Edited by R. Laird Harris et al. Chicago: Moody Press, 1980. 2 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .T49 1980]

Articles on 1400 Hebrew words, stressing their theological, not linguistic, understanding.

THEOLOGICAL WORD DICTIONARIES – GREEK

A Greek-English Lexicon of the New Testament and Other Early Christian Literature. Edited by Walter Bauer et al. 2nd edition. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1979.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – PA 881 .B38 1979]

"Bauer-Arndt-Gingrich" is the standard one-volume lexicon to NT Greek; it is most useful for quick reference. It gives the history of a Greek word, indicating its use in classical and Hellenistic Greek literature, the Septuagint (the Greek version of the OT), and later Greek, as well as the NT occurrences themselves. Another work should be used for more detailed word studies.

Theological Dictionary of the New Testament. Edited by Gerhard Kittel. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1964-1976. 10 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .K5813 1964]

"Kittel" is the standard work for biblical-Greek word studies. More than 2300 theologically significant NT words are examined. Each article includes a discussion of the etymology of the word, its usage in classical and Hellenistic Greek, in the Septuagint, and in the NT. When a word has a Hebrew parallel in the OT, a brief treatment of the Hebrew word is given.

The New International Dictionary of New Testament Theology. Edited by Colin Brown. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1975-1978. 3 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2312 .T4413 1975]

Page or more length articles on each of the major theological terms of the NT. Each article shows how the term and other related words are used in classical and secular Greek, the OT, the Dead Sea Scrolls, Rabbinic writings, and the NT. This work does not assume any knowledge of Hebrew or Greek. It is arranged in alphabetical order by the English (not Greek) word, and all Hebrew and Greek words are transliterated.

Exegetical Dictionary of the New Testament. Edited by Horst Balz and Gerhard Schneider. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1990-1993. 3 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2312 .E913 1990]

Includes many words not treated in Kittel (above).

Theological Lexicon of the New Testament. Edited by Ceslas Spicq. Peabody, MA: Hendrickson, 1994. 3 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2312 .S6513 1994]

Multi-page length articles examining the theological meaning of significant NT words. Arranged in alphabetical order by the Greek word, but with all Greek words transliterated. Extensive bibliographic footnotes.

THEOLOGICAL WORD DICTIONARIES – GENERAL

The articles in each of these works emphasise the theological aspects of a word rather than the etymological or semantic aspects. All three of these works were edited by Catholics and therefore consider how a particular word has been interpreted by the Church.

The Collegetown Pastoral Dictionary of Biblical Theology. Edited by Carroll Stuhlmueller. Collegetown, MN: Liturgical Press, 1996.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 417 .C735 1996]

Dictionary of Biblical Theology. Edited by Xavier Leon-Dufour. 2nd edition. Boston: St. Paul, 1988.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 543 .A1 V613 1982]

Encyclopedia of Biblical Theology. Edited by Johannes B. Bauer. London: Sheed and Ward, 1970. 3 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 440 .B5313 1970]

COMMENTARIES ON THE WHOLE BIBLE

Among the standard Catholic biblical commentaries are the following:

The New Jerome Biblical Commentary. Edited by Raymond E. Brown, Joseph A. Fitzmyer, Roland E. Murphy. Englewood Cliffs, NJ: Prentice Hall, 1990.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 491.2 .N485 1990]

The International Bible Commentary. Edited by William R. Farmer, Sean McEvenue, Armando J. Levoratti, David L. Dungan. Collegetown, MN: Liturgical Press, 1998.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 491.2 .I57 1998]

The Collegetown Bible Commentary. Collegetown, MN: Liturgical Press, 1989.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 491.2 .C66 1989]

[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 491.2 .N48 1975]

Among the standard mainline Protestant biblical commentaries are the following:

The New Interpreter's Bible. New York: Abingdon, 1994-2002. 12 volumes.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 491.2 .N484 1994]

The HarperCollins Bible Commentary. Revised edition by James L. Mays. San Francisco, CA: Harper & Row, 2000.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 491.2 .H37 2000]

Eerdmans Commentary on the Bible. Editors: James D.G. Dunn and John W. Rogerson. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 2003.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 491.3 .E37 2003]

COMMENTARIES ON SPECIFIC BIBLICAL BOOKS

A commentary on a specific book of the Bible goes through that book and comments on each chapter and each verse in order. The vast majority of the Library's commentaries are shelved on the Third Floor and can be taken out. Using the library online catalog, do a "starting with" subject search as follows:

bible o t <name of book> commentaries OR bible n t <name of book> commentaries

E.g.: bible o t amos commentaries OR bible n t matthew commentaries

The following two works list the major commentaries on specific books of the Bible, clearly stating the particular perspective of individual commentaries. In both cases, the writer of the commentary survey comes from an evangelical perspective.

Old Testament Commentary Survey. By Tremper Longman. 4th edition. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Academic, 2007.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 1151.52 .L66 2007]

New Testament Commentary Survey. By D. A. Carson. 6th edition. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Academic, 2007.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 2341.2 .C33 2007]

ATLASES

In addition to maps of the Biblical world at particular points in history, Bible atlases often include essays on the history and geography of the Biblical world, chronological charts, and other illustrations.

The Macmillan Bible Atlas. Edited by Yohanan Aharoni and Michael Avi-Yonah. New York: Macmillan, 1977.
[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 630 .A33 1977]

Oxford Bible Atlas. Edited by Adrian Curtis. 4th edition. New York: Oxford University Press, 2007.

FINDING JOURNAL ARTICLES

Old Testament Abstracts.

[Available online (1979 – present) for UofT use: <http://www.library.utoronto.ca>]

New Testament Abstracts.

[Available online (1956 – present) for UofT use: <http://www.library.utoronto.ca>]

Old Testament Abstracts and New Testament Abstracts are the major English-language indexes to journal articles and books on Biblical topics. Each lists far more items than either the ATLA Religion Database or the Catholic Periodical and Literature Index. OTA and NTA include paragraph-length summaries of the journal articles and books they index.

ATLA Religion Database with ATLASerials.

[Available online (1949 – present) for UofT use: <http://www.library.utoronto.ca>]

Over one million bibliographic citations to journal articles, essays in books, and book reviews in the field of religion. Includes a “Scripture Reference” search which enables one to look for materials on a particular scriptural passage.

Catholic Periodical and Literature Index (CPLI).

[Available online (1981 – present): for UofT use: <http://www.library.utoronto.ca>]

[Print version (1930 – 1980): St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – AI 3 .C3]

Over 200,000 bibliographic citations to Catholic books, book reviews, and journal articles from more than 160 Catholic magazines. Includes citations from many journals not indexed by ATLA Religion Database.

Elenchus of Biblica (formerly titled Elenchus bibliographicus biblicus). Rome: Pontificio istituto biblico, 1968 – present.

[St. Michael's 1st Floor Reference Area – BS 410 .E4]

The most complete index of journal articles and books on Biblical topics. Items are listed in broad subject categories, with author and scripture passage indexes. There are no summaries. Publication of each annual volume is usually delayed by several years; the most recent volume is for 2008. Before 1968 this index was part of the journal Biblica.

USE OF THE BIBLE IN THE CHURCH

To see how particular passages of Scripture have been interpreted by the Fathers or used in the major doctrinal or spiritual writings of the Catholic Church, look in the Scripture Index at the back of the following volumes:
