Buy a cheap copy of A Black Elephant With a Brown Ear (In book by Barbara Ann Porte. A witty collection of eleven short stories was inspired by a series of intriguing paintings created more than fifty years ago and seen by the author in a museum. Free shipping over $10. "Bill Traylor was born into slavery and worked as a farmer most of his life; in the years between 1939 and 1942, the elderly, untutored black artist made over 1200 paintings on scraps of paper and cardboard. Porte has taken 10 pieces of art, reproduced here in full-color, and has told an imaginative tale for each one....Porte's writings, which are light and folksy in tone, explore a world of possibilities."--School Library Journal. Rosa Louise McCauley Parks (February 4, 1913 â€" October 24, 2005) was an American activist in the civil rights movement best known for her pivotal role in the Montgomery bus boycott. The United States Congress has called her "the first lady of civil rights" and "the mother of the freedom movement". On December 1, 1955, in Montgomery, Alabama, Parks rejected bus driver James F. Blake's order to relinquish her seat in the "colored section" to a white passenger, after the whites-only section was filled
