Semester at Sea, Course Syllabus

Colorado State University, Academic Partner

Semester: Fall 2016
Discipline: Philosophy/Religion
Course Number and Title: PHIL 372 Meaning and Truth in Religion
Course Level: Upper (300-499)
Faculty Name: Dr. Yael Avrahami
Semester Credit Hours: 3
Prerequisites: A lower-division religion or philosophy course

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The purpose of this course is to question the ability of words to reveal truth about the divine. In other words, it discusses the question of religious language. The course will open with an attempt to define monotheism and the related notions of the incorporeal, infinite, and transcendent god. The second part will include readings from the Hebrew Bible, the New Testament, and the Quran that will demonstrate the gap between the common definition of monotheism and these texts. The subject of pre-Socratic monotheistic theology and the lack of its cultic manifestation will also be presented.

The third part of the course will look at the principles of faith or doctrines of Judaism, Christianity and Islam. Four medieval attempts to solve the disagreement between these principles and scripture will be reviewed: via negative (Maimonides), univocal language (Duns Scotus), Analogy (Thomas Aquinas), and spiritual practice (Al-Ghazali). The fourth part of the course will investigate modern replies to the problem of religious language. Particular attention will be paid to the symbolic and mythic approaches, as well as to the emergence of hermeneutics.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

1. Outline the main problems and solutions of religious language
2. Compare and contrast the various understandings of monotheism
3. Critically examine the problem of religious language
4. Write about their field experience using terms and theories taught in the classroom and in the course readings.
5. Discuss diverse religious ideas and practices in an emphatic-objective way.

II. Mid-term exam 25%
   One hour exam will be held on Oct 30 (A12) on the topic: The Birth and History of Monotheism.

III. Final Exam 25%
   One hour exam will be held on Dec 19 (A25) on the topic: Solutions to the Problem of Religious Language

IV. Field Class and Assignment (20%)

   Field Class attendance is mandatory for all students enrolled in this course. Do not book individual travel plans or a Semester at Sea sponsored trip on the day of your field class. Field Classes constitute at least 20% of the contact hours for each course, and will be developed and led by the instructor.

   Representations of the Divine in the Abrahamic Traditions (Rome) – Monday, 26 Sep.
   As the Center of the Catholic world, Rome gives a fine example of religious symbolism and representation. We will visit the Vatican Museum and St. Peter Basilica, where students will experience the grandeur of Western art. From Vatican City we will walk to the Great Synagogue of Rome, and then drive to the Mosque of Rome. In both places we will pay special notice to the experience and message created by ar
   Learning objectives:

1. Students will experience non-verbal representation of the divine.
2. Students will understand the theological challenges of non-verbal representation of the divine.
3. Students will experience the diverse architecture and ornamentation of religious space.
4. Students should come to question the widespread dichotomy between the Judeo-Christian and the Muslim world architecture, ornamentation, and costumes of worship.

   Assignment:
   During the field class students are asked to note and take photos of the ways in which the divine is represented in each of the three Abrahamic religions. Some manifestation of the divine are non-visual and should be considered (visual symbol, sounds, scents, ceremonies, architectural element etc are all possible manifestation of the divine). While taking photos make sure that you understand the nature of the element you are photographing. Document the information on spot. Make sure photos are permissible. You can consult the relevant chapter in How to Be a Perfect Stranger: The Essential Religious Etiquette Handbook found in the Ship’s library for more details regarding visiting worship sites and services.

Write a 6 page field class paper explaining the three different ways in which God is represented in worship, including:

1. Description of the elements you have notices
2. Reflection on the different meanings of these elements for the religious practitioner and for the student.
3. Illustration in some detail (with ample citation) how the experience of or encounter with this element enriched the student’s understanding of some class reading or lecture.
4. Explanation of the way history, doctrine, and practice are interrelated through this observed element

Essay is due on A7 (Oct 15)

V. Journal Reflection on Site visits (15%)
During your site visits pay particular attention to gendered representation of the divine. Write a 6 pages journal describing at least three encounters with gendered representation of the divine in the Latin American ports. Journal should include the following elements.

1. Description of the elements you have notices (include photos when possible)
2. Interpretation of the elements and their different meanings for the religious practitioner and for the student.
3. Illustration in some detail (with ample citation) how the experience of or encounter with this element enriched the student’s understanding of some class reading or lecture.
4. Explanation of the way history, doctrine, and practice are interrelated through this observed element

Journal is due on A22 (Dec7)
The class of A22 will be dedicated to an open discussion of your insights, you MUST bring to class one PPT slide which includes some visualization of your experience, exact instruction will be announced in advance.

METHODS OF EVALUATION / GRADING SCALE

The following Grading Scale is utilized for student evaluation. Pass/Fail is not an option for Semester at Sea coursework. Note that C-, D+ and D- grades are also not assigned on Semester at Sea in accordance with the grading system at Colorado State University (the SAS partner institution).

Pluses and minuses are awarded as follows on a 100% scale:

ATTENDANCE/ENGAGEMENT IN THE ACADEMIC PROGRAM

Attendance in all Semester at Sea classes is mandatory, but it is at the instructor’s discretion to assign a grade to the participation and attendance requirement.

Students must inform their instructors prior to any unanticipated absence and take the initiative to make up missed work in a timely fashion. Instructors must make reasonable efforts to enable students to make up work which must be accomplished under the instructor’s supervision (e.g., examinations, laboratories). In the event of a conflict in regard to this policy, individuals may appeal using established CSU procedures.

LEARNING ACCOMMODATIONS

Semester at Sea provides academic accommodations for students with diagnosed learning disabilities, in accordance with ADA guidelines. Students who will need accommodations in a class, should contact ISE to discuss their individual needs. Any accommodation must be discussed in a timely manner prior to implementation. A memo from the student’s home institution verifying the accommodations received on their home campus is required before any accommodation is provided on the ship. Students must submit this verification of accommodations pre-voyage as soon as possible, but no later than July 19, 2016 to academic@isevoyages.org.

STUDENT CONDUCT CODE

The foundation of a university is truth and knowledge, each of which relies in a fundamental manner upon academic integrity and is diminished significantly by academic misconduct. Academic integrity is conceptualized as doing and taking credit for one’s own work. A pervasive attitude promoting academic integrity enhances the sense of community and adds value to the educational process. All within the University are affected by the cooperative commitment to academic integrity. All Semester at Sea courses adhere to this Academic Integrity Policy and Student Conduct Code.

Depending on the nature of the assignment or exam, the faculty member may require a written declaration of the following honor pledge: “I have not given, received, or used any unauthorized assistance on this exam/assignment.”

You are allowed, even encouraged, to form study groups. However, all work turned in (papers, quizzes, exams) MUST be your own work. College rules on plagiarism will apply to all of your written work, and any violation is a serious offense. Plagiarism includes copying another student’s work in any capacity; and copying an author’s work without proper citation. This latter category includes directly quoting a work without reference, and inappropriately paraphrasing (simply changing a few words rather than presenting the thoughts of the author in your own words). Please consult the College Handbook and the instructor if you are unclear about what constitutes plagiarism. Ignorance of the rules is no excuse. For the first offense, you will receive a zero for that assignment. Any second offense will be reported to the authorities, a letter will go into your permanent file, and you will fail the course. No exceptions.
THE ACADEMIC STUDY OR RELIGION

While this course makes no presuppositions about your faith-perspectives, it does insist that the variety of confessional stances be respected. You are not asked to ‘believe’ all materials presented, but you are expected to know the theories and to be able to engage them critically.

Primary texts, movies and other documentations are to be respectably yet critically evaluated.

Be warned: A History of God is not a tidy linear history. Rather, we learn that the definition of God is constantly being repeated, altered, discarded, and resurrected through the ages, responding to its followers' practical concerns rather than to mystical mandates. Armstrong also shows us how Judaism, Christianity, and Islam have overlapped and influenced one another, gently challenging the secularist history of each of these religions. - -Gail Hudson. Review. The most fascinating and learned study of the biggest wild goose chase in history—the quest for God. Karen Armstrong is a genius. A.N. Wilson, author of Jesus: A Life. See all Product description. With such bestsellers as A History of God and Islam, Karen Armstrong has consistently delivered "penetrating, readable, and prescient" (The New York Times) works that have lucidly engaged a wide range of religions and religious issues. In Buddha she turns. In the Beginning: A New Interpretation of Genesis. by Karen Armstrong. 1997. The power of Genesis lies in its stories, especially those of the creation, the Fall, Cain and Abel, Noah, Abraham, Jacob, and Joseph. Armstrong traces the grand design of Genesis and its great themes, examines its stories in fascinatin
